C., March 25.—It is asserted here that an understanding has been reached between England and the United States, for the latter to recognize the Cubans and the former to follow, in the hope that it will end the war, either by securing Cuban independence or home rule. The story has been denied from London, but there are strong grounds for belief in its truth.

Y., March 25.—A London dispatch says: It has been decided to send a representative of the postoffice department to the United States for the purpose of examining the methods employed in the postoffice of the leading cities for stamping the dates and time of receipt of letters. The matter grows out of some remarks recently made in the commons by Henniker Henton, a well-known reformer of postal methods, in which he called attention to the illegible and distant postmarks of American letters, showing the place, date and hour of sorting, as compared with the blurred and frequently illegible postmarks on British letters. The representative, who will be selected from one of the officials of the postoffice, will inspect the stamps now in use in the United States, and report upon the practicability of their adoption.

After the vacancy in the state advisory board of the exposition had been filled and other routine business dispatched, it was unanimously decided that Alabama should be properly represented at the exposition and that after the close of the exposition the exhibits should be permanently left in Chicago to direct the attention of prospective immigrants to this state. In a few days a live work will begin toward arranging for the exhibit and raising the money necessary for the enterprise.

TURKEY CALLS FOR HELP

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 25.—When the republican state convention met yesterday, Congressman Tawney read a message from Senator Davis, formally withdrawing as a candidate for the presidency.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 25.—The biennial convention of the state league of republican clubs opened, to-day, at the capitol with an immense attendance. John Goodnow, of Minneapolis, the well known base ball player, presided. It was the talk, this morning, that at the instigation of President Goodnow, resolutions endorsing McKinley would be submitted, but the president of the organization declared that any suggestion that he was using his position in the league to boom any individual was unqualifiedly false.

HURON, S. D., March 25.—The South Dakota republican convention to select delegates to the national convention was called to order at noon to-day with 621 delegates in attendance. The Allison and McKinley strength is about evenly divided and as a consequence any attempt to instruct the delegates will plunge the convention into a bitter contest for the mastery. The delegates will probably go uninstructed. The indications are that Senator Pettigrew will be chosen this afternoon to head the delegation to St. Louis, he making a fight against the single-standard platform.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 25.—Enthusiastic republicans from every section of West Virginia and from neighboring states as well occupied all the available space in the Barlow opera house, to-day, when President Elliott called to order the annual meeting of the state league of republican clubs. The meeting is the largest political gathering in the history of the state. In calling the meeting to order President Elliott congratulated the delegates on the large attendance and spoke in enthusiastic terms of the cause of republican success in West Virginia, this fall.

A rousing ovation was tendered Senator F. King, who was among the principal speakers, and the appearance of Governor Bradley, of Kentucky, on the stage, was the signal for another enthusiastic demonstration. President Woodmason, of the Ohio state league, was also among the visitors of note occupying seats on the stage.

Pittsburgh's New Bridge

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 25.—Pittsburgh's first free bridge, spanning the Monongahela river, was opened to the public to-day, and the event was made the occasion of general rejoicing, the citizens of the south side particularly celebrating their emancipation from the payment of bridge tolls, which for years they have been forced to make, by the corporations controlling the bridges joining the two sections of the city. A feature of the celebration, this morning, was the marriage ceremony, uniting Miss Lillian Williams and John Herberg, the ceremony being performed on the central span of the bridge, in full view of the thousands of spectators who lined the approaches to both banks of the river. The merchants of the south side, who hope to reap great benefits from the new bridge, have offered to set up the couple in housekeeping.
